Learning At Glance

Dear Parent

Greetings and a warm welcome to In-Touch, our monthly planner thoughtfully curated to keep you informed and engaged in your child's early learning journey. August brings a wave of pride and patriotism as we celebrate 'India Week' and Independence Day, helping our young learners connect with our nation's rich culture through stories, songs, and creative expressions.

This month's theme, "Home and Beyond," focuses on building connections between home and school. Through engaging activities, children will explore family roles, classroom responsibilities, good manners, and respectful relationships—gaining a deeper sense of belonging. They'll also get familiar with different spaces at home and school and their purpose.

Adding to the fun, our sensory exploration of the five senses will spark curiosity and strengthen their observation skills.

We look forward to partnering with you in this enriching journey of joyful learning and meaningful connections.

Language & Literacy Development

In the coming month, children will engage in a variety of interactive language and communication activities.

General Conversation:

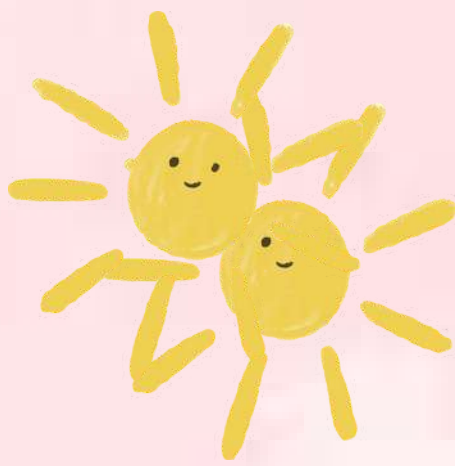

We will continue to practice everyday greetings and polite expressions like "How are you?", "I am fine, thank you," and "Nice to meet you," through role-play and circle time. Identity-based conversations,, such as "I am a boy/girl" will also be reinforced. The children will be introduced to the name of their school.

Picture Description:

Children will explore picture comprehension using everyday scenes and festival themes. Activities will encourage observation, vocabulary building, and storytelling through guided questions, flashcards, big books, and real-life photos.

Words used in Everyday Life:

We will introduce action words like walk, run, jump, and clap through songs, games, Born to Move sessions, and dramatization.
